

a. AIRBORNE

1. General

b. The purpose of this manual is to provide the necessary information for the operation of the aircraft in the event of an emergency landing.

c. This manual is intended for use by the crew and passengers of the aircraft.

d. The information contained in this manual is subject to change without notice.

e. The information contained in this manual is for informational purposes only.

f. The information contained in this manual is for informational purposes only.

g. The information contained in this manual is for informational purposes only.

h. The information contained in this manual is for informational purposes only.

i. The information contained in this manual is for informational purposes only.